From partnerships to technology, donors are shifting how Pakachoag engages.

As the School works to fulfill the goals of Music for Life, we see all around us change in the faces and music of our students.

Those changes are in part the natural shifts that come as we grow institutionally and individually as teachers and learners. The changes we see also reflect a growing diversity among our student population that comes with greater regional exposure for the School, combined with efforts to strengthen and integrate partnerships more tightly into our School culture.

Stoddard Charitable Trust, Fletcher Foundation Add Support

Music For Life Gains Momentum with $15,000 in New Grant Funding

The School expresses our sincere appreciation to the Trustees of the Stoddard Charitable Trust and the Fletcher Foundation for their generous investment in the Music For Life capacity building campaign with grants totaling $15,000.

As the School works to create a stronger future for community arts education, one that sustains high quality and enhances access, we appreciate the trust these Foundations are placing in the School.

Both The Stoddard Charitable Trust and Fletcher Foundation are based in Worcester.

Music for Life, Phase One, is allowing the School to align internal resources to support our expert faculty, assure sufficient space for the future, and upgrade internal resources, technology and capabilities.

Music for Life is also reaching deeper into the community through extended outreach for at-risk children and families, through dynamic local partnerships like the new Pakachoag at The Hanover Theatre; and through increases in financial aid.

Investing in Partnerships, With Your Support

“Pakachoag’s long-standing reputation in the community, dedicated staff, and appreciation for the many benefits that art education can bring to a student made them the perfect partner for us in this new venture.”

Meghan Montaner,
Director of Education,
Hanover Theater
for the Performing Arts

New Hanover Theatre Partnership Extends Reach for Little Ones

We are excited to partner with the Hanover Theatre in Worcester, starting January, by bringing Pakachoag’s popular Music Together® program to the Hanover’s new Conservatory.

The Conservatory, which primarily offers after-school and summer theater programming, adjoins the main theater downtown, at the corner of Main and Southbridge Streets.

Music Together at the Hanover will be offered on Monday mornings with Pakachoag faculty member Linnea Lyerly. Tuition includes free parking and discounts to many shows.

The Hanover partnership extends Pakachoag’s reach to now include five class locations: Auburn, Worcester, Sterling, Sturbridge and W. Boylston.; with classes available at one or more locations on Monday through Saturday mornings, and Thursday afternoons .

Meghan Montaner, Director of Education for the Hanover Theater, writes:

“We are very excited to be partnering with Pakachoag Music School to offer Music Together at our new Conservatory for the Performing Arts. Offering performing arts education in downtown Worcester is central to our mission to foster a love and appreciation for the performing arts and we look forward to a long partnership with Pakachoag in accomplishing this goal. “

Youth Leaders Teach Free Music Lessons

Thirty Plus Children Receiving Free Music Lessons; Twelve Youth Honing Leadership Skills.

Afternoon Tunes, an All Saints Church outreach program, with Pakachoag serving as a lead partner, is off to another busy year. This year, Pakachoag faculty member Nike Beaudry moves from mentor teacher into an expanded role as Interim Program Director.

Fourteen high school volunteer teachers are teaching 37 children.

The majority of students receiving free instruction live in the Main South / All Saints neighborhood.

In addition to weekly private lessons, programs include two theory groups, a jazz ensemble, and master classes conducted with All Saints choristers.

A winter student recital is scheduled for January at All Saints, and a second annual teacher recital (with the student teachers) is planned in February. An African drumming group will do a presentation for students in April.

All Saints Choir director Graeme

McCullough, along with two choir member volunteers—Bruce Foss (also an adult voice student at Pakachoag) and Sarah Okerlund are providing additional program support.

Pakachoag students Matthew McCoy (piano, Shrewsbury) and Shannen Lin (violin, Worcester) are among the volunteers for this year’s [rogram.

*** Afternoon Tunes, founded by Pakachoag alumna Liz Butterworth, is one of several partnerships where Pakachoag provides administrative, teaching or leadership support .

Investing in Students, Today & Tomorrow

Donor Spotlight: Meg Gallo

Why Meg Believes in Pakachoag

Meg Gallo, long-time donor, former board member, advisory board member, and Pakachoag parent, takes a moment to visit with Pakachoag.

“A strong annual fund equals a strong school. That’s why the Harmony Fund is a priority today.”

Meg Gallo,
Harmony Fund Donor

Pakachoag parent Meg Gallo is a loyal donor to the Harmony Fund and recently sat down to tell us why Pakachoag is so important to her family.

How did you first become affiliated with Pakachoag?

“I started with Music Together when my daughter was about 9 or 10 months old. She’s 17 now! I loved that time with her and even thought about becoming a trained Music Together instructor! Our family has been part of Pakachoag ever since.”

As a donor to the school, what would you say to other parents about the importance of giving?

“We all have a part to play to strengthen the vitality of the school. If we value the school, it is important to contribute to the organization. Tuition doesn’t cover all the costs of attending Pakachoag. We need to keep the cost of lessons reasonable so music education can be attainable for everyone. A strong annual fund equals a strong school. That’s why the Harmony Fund is a priority today.”

There are many charitable organizations in Central Mass, what makes Pakachoag a priority for you and your family?

“I believe in music education. I believe all children should be able to express themselves musically. I believe Pakachoag has an extraordinary program. It is a high caliber program with our support as donors. There are many important things in our community and the arts are one of the most important.”

Pakachoag is experiencing a time of great growth and change. What are you most excited to see as the school continues to grow?

“There is a lot to be excited about! This is a time full of opportunities for growth. The chance to have an increased presence in Worcester is exciting. Reaching out to underserved communities to give boys and girls a chance to enjoy music is something I’m very excited to be a part of.”

Harmony Fund FY17

Did you know that even in the midst of the Music for Life Campaign, it is critical to have a strong and growing Harmony Fund? Help us keep the School strong!

- A gift of $25 pays for a new drum for Music Together. participate in our school-year or summer theater shows.
- A gift of $90 covers the cost of one piano tuning. (Total annual cost to tune our 7 pianos, 2-3 times annually: $1500.)
- A gift of $920 (the average financial aid award for FY16) sponsors a student in need for a full year of lessons.
- A gift of $175 underwrites tuition for a Theater student to

Andy Weigl Joins Illustrious Group of Verderese Volunteers of the Year

At the School's May 2016 student recital, we extended our heartfelt thanks to volunteer School photographer and board member, Andy Weigl.

Andy's change of profession, from business consultant to professional photographer, was fortuitous in the life of the School. Over the past three years, Andy visited numerous recitals, lessons and special events to capture the life of Pakachoag in photos.

With the unveiling of our new website in May, Andy's photos brought the site to life through artistically captured images.

Beyond the camera, Andy has dedicated hundreds of hours over six years, watching over the health of the school and providing advice on all things strategic, in particular marketing activity.

When asked what has been most fulfilling about his personal commitment to Pakachoag, Andy writes:

- "Helping to work on issues that are important to the school, and making a difference along the way.

- "Watching, hearing and photographing, the students during performance - capturing the emotion.
- "Being able to give back to a worthy cause ...
- "Seeing first-hand how a small non-profit organization operates. It's way more challenging than I would have imagined!"

We thank Andy for sharing his time, his talents and dollars in support of Pakachoag students.

Donors/Grantors Invest in Students through Technology

Shifts in technology are also helping us expand and connect in new ways.

Many of our MFL activities are summarized here in our newsletter. Some have not yet come to fruition—but the work is in progress.

I and our Board of Directors wish to thank you, our donors and grantors, for your trust in the School. We're working hard to ramp up, to change, to learn, to grow. None of this would be possible without your generosity.

Thank you!

Sincerely,

Heather MacFarlane, New Development Associate

Welcome Heather MacFarlane

Heather MacFarlane joined Pakachoag in October as our new part-time Development Associate. Heather will be working with Sarah to make sure our donors, grantors and sponsors have the opportunity to see how their support is impacting students and strengthening Pakachoag. Heather has extensive prior experience in the development offices at Clark University and Assumption College. She holds a BA from Wheaton College and an MBA from Assumption.

Sponsors Keep the Music Playing

Alumnus Martin Palacios Shares Beautiful Music

Concert Inspires Students of all Ages

In October, Martin Palacios (originally of Auburn) flew up from Tennessee to present a special Music For Life alumnus concert. Martin is currently completing a master's degree in Suzuki Pedagogy. Following the concert, Martin asked one of our young attending violinists, "What is your favorite piece?" "Aunt Rhodie," replied Beckham. "I love that piece", responded Martin. Clearly, Martin is well on his way to being a wonderful teacher, as well as accomplished violinist.

A reception, generously provided by parents, followed the concert which included works by Bach, Saint-Saëns and Schostakovich.

Thank you Security Engineered Machinery, program sponsor; and Music for Life donors. The additional expense of hosting an out-of-state musician was only possible because of your support.

On Friday, December 16th, twelve Pakachoag fiddlers visited UMass Memorial to share musical cheer. Thank you students and parents for taking the time; also Amy Matherly and mom Ketaki for organizing the visit.

Alumni News

Med School, Art School, NYC Triathlon Winner, Drama Director Among Alumni

John Butterworth (piano; 2010) is in his first of four years at Weill Cornell Medical School. John wants to either be a pediatrician or pediatric oncologist. John is also doing research at Cornell in the area of pediatric neuro-oncology.

Ben Lefferts (piano; 2015) is attending the Maryland Institute College of Art (MICA).

Claire Lefferts (piano; 2005) has been accepted into the master's program for Latin and Classical Studies at UMass/Boston.

Gregory Paradis (Piano/Voice; 2005) has been appointed Musical and Drama Director at the James Caldwell High School in W. Caldwell, NJ. Greg just finished producing Godspell and is now preparing for a spring production of Legally Blonde.

Greg also teaches voice, piano, and acting at Fine Arts Connection in Pine Brook NJ, and is a new teaching artist for the education program at Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn, NJ. Four times a year he writes and arranges music for student-written children's plays at Montclair Kimberley Academy, and during the holiday season, he is a professional Christmas caroler with the Yuletide Carolers.

Renae Renihan (cello; 2016) is attending Worcester State College majoring in Music. Renae is also teaching Cello for the Bancroft School in Worcester.

Dustin Weigl (Trumpet; 2009) won, in July, the individuals (non-pro) division of the New York City Triathlon (out of 3500 entrants). Dustin entered school this fall at MIT double majoring in Transportation and Technology/Policy. Dustin continues to play his trumpet as a member of the MIT concert band. Dustin wrote earlier this year, in response to a "we're excited" Facebook post by Pakachoag: "My [trumpet] lessons with Jon absolutely helped me manage my breathing this weekend!"

Introducing New Faculty

Joining the School as new faculty in September 2016 are:

Katie Beisel Hollenbach, Clarinet, Theory Classes: Katie earned her bachelor's degree at the University of Denver. She also holds a Master of Music degree in musicology from Northwestern University and is currently a PhD candidate in musicology at the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign.

David Siegel, Violin, holds a Bachelor of Music degree, in violin performance, from the Manhattan School of Music. He has performed on a regular basis for many years, often as concertmaster, with a variety of organizations, including the Boston Landmarks Orchestra and Boston Ballet.

Usha Verma, Indian Classical Sitar, joins us in January. Usha holds an MA in Music from Punjab

University. She was a Music Professor for 6 years at Arya College in Ludhiana, India, and has taught previously at the Learn-Quest School of Music in Waltham.

Faculty News

The Matherlys Announce Release of New Book

Amy Matherly (Suzuki Program Coordinator / Violin Faculty) and husband Christopher Matherly announce the release of their latest book: Group Classics: Strategies and Ideas for Inspiring Suzuki Group Classes

As a veteran teacher, Amy offers advice and student tested lesson ideas gleaned from over 30 years of group class teaching experience.

Amy notes, "Group class is the heart of a successful Suzuki program and needs to be approached with thoughtful planning."

Group Classics is available at campublications.com, at amazon.com and at Johnson String Instruments.

Julie Holston (Music Together) could be seen around southern Worcester county in December with the Very Merry Dickens Carolers, singing traditional carols as well as swing and doo-wap.

Linnea Lyerly (Music Together) sang an itinerary of different genres, time periods, languages and styles for A Musical Journey in Song presented in November as part of the FCC of Shrewsbury's Arts on the Green concert series with pianist Malcolm Halliday and other vocalists. In December, Linnea appeared in the "1940's Radio Hour" production with Calliope Theater in Boylston.

In October, William Ness (organ faculty) brought Worcester Memorial Auditorium's Kimball organ "back to life" after three decades of silence. William's performance was part of a Worcester chapter American Guild of Organists festival week at the Auditorium.

Donor Provides Nice Quality Piano for Lessons

Music Lover Donates For Teaching & Learning

Thank you Rev. Perry Kingman and family for donating this past year a very nice, lightly used Yamaha upright piano.

Rev. Kingman is a Pakachoag Board member. He also sings and volunteers with the Salisbury Singers. Perry is genuinely enthused when he sees young people engaged in making music. We've noticed he particularly enjoys hearing a young person play Bach.

We appreciate all of the offers we receive from community friends who are looking to put old instruments to good use.

While our school piano needs are quite specific, we are happy to refer donations forward to families in need of an instrument.

We continue to accept some wind and string instrument donations, on an as-needed basis, on behalf of the Boys & Girls Club and All Saints' Afternoon Tunes partnerships.
